Mrs. Okonkwo graduated with her Master of Accountancy, emphasis in tax, from Brigham Young University in 1996. She began her career working for one of the then big six accounting firms, Deloitte & Touche LLP in Boise, ID, her home town. While there she specialized in International taxes for Individuals (Expatriates) and State taxes. After three years, she began working for Novell, Inc. in Orem, UT where her emphasis was in Corporate International taxation. While in the corporate world, she also helped her husband get his business up and running. In 2004 she finally realized her life-time dream of being a full-time mother. She can agree that nothing is more difficult, but at the same time, more rewarding than being a mom! In February 2017 she began working part-time for Liberty Tech, and has loved working in such a great environment.

She married her exact opposite, Nnamdi Okonkwo, an artist, and has laughed and enjoyed life much more since marrying him. They have been married 21 years and have three children, Jacob (15) who loves basketball and piano, Kechi (13) who loves basketball and art, and Kasi (12) who loves everything to do with dance. Together the Okonkwo's love to play sports, dance to music at home, watch movies, and travel together. They have traveled to every state but four.
